Event Details

Ineffective job search and presenting behaviors are preventing many teens and young adults from being considered for employment by people in hiring positions

Benefit from the resources, strategies and the expertise of your colleagues as we tackle developing effective workshops on job search skills topics such as resumes, applications, interviews, and references.

Whether your organization is planning to conduct an hour or eight hours of trainings on job search skills, this workshop will help you prepare to execute highly-effective trainings aligned with Positive Youth Development approaches.

In this training, you will:

- Get ideas and resources on how to lead trainings to help youth participants develop job search skills
- See effective and engaging activities modeled
- Practice your own facilitation skills in small groups
- Participate in a highly-interactive and collaborative workshop.
- Leave the training with a working agenda and the basic materials to conduct workshops that meet the needs of your youth program participants

Lunch will be served!
